

Global IFA Travelling Lectureship Programme 2026

Topic: The International Dimension of Withholding Taxes (Tax Treaties and Beyond)

SINGAPORE

22 APRIL, WEDNESDAY

International Fiscal Association

Withholding taxes (WHT) continue to play a pivotal role, particularly in relation to dividends, interests and royalties, both within domestic tax systems and in the context of tax treaties. Globalisation has (i) increased the volume and complexity of cross-border transactions; (ii) expanded the scope of domestic source taxation and WHT; (iii) drawn more attention to potential abuse; (iv) underscored the need for better tax treaty relief procedures. The 2026 TLP edition will examine practical WHT issues across jurisdictions, treaty interaction with domestic law and trends on how to shape WHT in the future.

Patricia Brown

Lecturer

Ms. Brown joined the United Nations in 2020 and currently is a Senior Economic Affairs Officer in the Financing for Sustainable Development Office where she supports the development of the UN Framework Convention on International Tax Cooperation. She began her career at a large international law firm, working in New York and London. She moved to the U.S. Treasury Department in 1994, and in 1997 became the Deputy International Tax Counsel (Treaty Affairs), with responsibility for coordinating U.S. tax treaty policy. From 2006 through 2010, she was a consultant to the OECD, working on the collective investment vehicle and the Treaty Relief and Compliance Enhancement projects. From 2010 to 2020, she was the Director of the Graduate Tax Program at the University of Miami School of Law.
